

1

2

3

The natural morphology of the valley [1] was slowly cut by the need of implementing heavy industry and infra-structure [2]. The new water treatment station was the motto for the reinterpretation of the that morphology, adapted to contemporary needs.