On February 24th the COAC held the awards ceremony of the First "Mostra" Exhibition of International Catalan Architecture.

73 architectural works were submitted to the "International Mostra", which include residential and non-residential works by public and private developers; landscape interventions and urban planning projects carried out between September 2004 and December 2013. During the event, the Innovation Award of Banco Sabadell Foundation was also delivered.

Beyond the recognition of the quality of the works presented to the "International Mostra", the event intended to highlight the work of Catalan architects abroad. Hence, the Catalan Minister of Territory and Sustainability, Santi Vila, congratulated the COAC on the work carried out with the "International Mostra" and the Network of COAC Correspondents, which help "stimulate a critical mass and thus generate and strengthen the Catalan ecosystem of talent". He also noted that the Government works and will continue working in order to "generate stimuli so that the sector is strong to create talent initiatives and projects". To this end, he announced that the Government intends to approve the project of Catalan Architecture Law within this parliamentary term.

During the event, a video of the COAC Correspondents was presented, which explains how Catalan architects and architecture are seen around the world:
